A. Introduction

The church and the world are changing. In this volatile and challenging context, the call of Jesus to be and make disciples who exhibit the gracious, life-transforming reign of God is needed perhaps more than ever.

This booklet is a resource for those who wish to strengthen personal, joyful, life-long Kingdom impact to the glory of God.

The booklet is designed to be lived out. By this I mean it is intended to be practical and engaging, personally and in our relationships, just as the teaching of Jesus is on which it is based. It is intended to help us be more purposeful disciples of Jesus and to help others grow in being vital, transformed and transforming disciples of Jesus, permeating culture and society as leaven transforms its host.

This booklet uses language to communicate vital concepts, recognizing the concepts can be communicated in other terms, in some cases terms with which the reader may be more comfortable, particularly as language changes over time. For this reason, the author encourages you to translate the terms you feel require it, to make the concepts meaningful and engaging in your personal context (church, business, academia, sport, relational network).

The progression is designed to enable you to implement each chapter before completing the book. In each case the chapter which follows is intended to offer a new step of opportunity and increased fruitfulness. The joy of the process Jesus introduces is that this Kingdom growth has no end of potential, scope, and joy.

B. Leading your first Discovery Bible Study

One of the beauties of discovery bible study (DBS)<sup>1</sup> is its simplicity. The small group process is so simple anyone can lead it. Participants grow in confidence, as no special training is needed since the facilitator does not answer questions but only asks them. This in turn enables new groups to be formed easily in time by others in the group who see the simple process modeled. Go ahead, try it, perhaps with a friend or two.

Small Group Process

Begin with a simple prayer, asking the Lord's presence and guidance.

(You may wish to pray yourself. In a following session you may want to invite another person and then others to welcome the Lord's presence.)

1. RECONNECT (Looking back)

What are you thankful for (or rejoicing in) today?

What challenge are you facing this week?

(These questions help build community and may become part of group prayer during the closing moments of the DBS as we give thanks and pray for one other facing the challenges and opportunities before us.)

2. REVIEW

Can someone summarize our passage from last time? How did God speak to you personally through it?

What did you learn as you sought to live out your "I will ..." statement last week?

With whom did you share how the Lord has been speaking to you? How did the person respond?

<sup>1</sup> Discovery Bible Study has become a common term among Christians. In some settings where the Bible is not recognized as Scripture, followers of Christ have used the term Faith Circle, or Circle of Hope. The name of the discovery process is less important than the life transforming process.

(Reviewing our experience since the last session cannot take place of course the first session, but subsequently provides opportunities to reflect on personal growth and response to the Lordship of Christ and guidance of the Holy Spirit.)

3. READ (Look up to the Lord through the Scriptures)

Invite one or two people to read the new Scripture passage in different translations.

(Others can close their eyes and listen or read along.)

4. RETELL

Can someone retell the story, or main points in this passage, in your own words?

Is there anything someone else would like to add?

(A retelling of the story or main points helps engage our minds and hearts. These oral reflections are a part of group learning and can be done with the Bible momentarily closed.)

5. RESPOND

What does this passage tell us about God, or Jesus? (What is God like?)

What does this passage tell us about people? (What do we learn about ourselves?)

What is God drawing you to pay attention to? (What do you sense God wanting to address or change in you?)

(These basic questions place the Scripture, rather than the group facilitator (who speaks as little as necessary), in the center as teacher as the Holy Spirit speaks to each person's heart.)

6. REACT (Look forward to fruitfulness)

How can you put your learning into action? (Take a few moments as we are silent together to write your responses in your notebook.)

"I will ..."

(Our "I will" statement is a simple practical action we intend to take in response to the truth we sense the Lord drawing to our attention.)

(Sometimes it may be the Lord invites the group to respond to a need within your group or your community. If so, someone in the group can suggest a "We will..." statement. When completed, your group can ask the Lord for the way your group can serve together again.)

7. REPEAT

Who do you know who may well benefit from what the Lord is teaching you?

How will you share what the Lord is speaking into your life?

(Sharing something personal from your walk with the Lord is an authentic personal witness not dependent on written materials. Group participants can pray for people in their lives and be aware of those crossing their path with whom to share. If the person or group you share with express openness, you can offer to facilitate a DBS with them or invite them to your group, if the group is still small, i.e. under 8 people.)

As you conclude your time together, invite participants to pray for one another personally... A good way is to ask each participant to pray for one other person in the circle, if they are comfortable doing so. Prayer can be for strength in the other person's challenge, for blessing on their "I will..." statement, and for the Lord's grace on their lives...

This simple process can be used in your own daily quiet time with the Lord, in helping your family grow in the Lord, in an existing small group in your church or, most significantly, with people who are not yet followers of Christ.

The Bible is a book with many pages and passages of various kinds. How should one begin? Which passages would be good to reflect on next? The next section makes some suggestions.

C. Scripture Series for Two Years

Jesus says something interesting and significant about the parable of the sower (Mark 4) suggesting it to be key to understanding much of his teaching (v.17). For this reason, I like to begin with this passage.

Then what?

If you lead a congregation, you may have your own set of passages or be following a lectionary. Alternatively, the Bible is rich with options and the following are only suggestions and could be explored in almost any order. The passages which follow, if a group met weekly, would guide the group for two years. During that time, it is likely the group will have started other groups. These groups can then also pick topics at their own pace.
